

TO JOIN THE SAFETY and HEALTH DIVISION

- The Safety, Health and Environmental fields are in the technological forefront, revolutionizing the way chemical engineering will be practiced in the future.
- You can participate in the organization of one of the most outstanding and longest running technical forums – The Loss Prevention Symposium.
- These fields attract some of the best members of our profession.
- Recognizing and explaining risk to the community is essential to the future of the chemical process industry. The community needs your expertise and advocacy on safety and risk issues.
- A rapidly developing technology needs your input. Participation helps you remain current.
- You will associate with others who care about creating safer working environments and communities, care about their careers, and care about making contributions to our profession.
- The Safety and Health Division sponsors an annual Division Dinner at the AIChE Spring National Meeting. You will have the opportunity to meet leaders in our field and discuss relevant issues.

Benefits of membership include the Division Newsletter and Process Safety Progress, published quarterly. Safety and Health Division dues are $39.00 per year. Join now!
